the Krishi Rath, flagged off from Chouldari village in South Andaman. The Rath travelled extensively through rural and far-flung areas, raising awareness through banners, audio messages, and direct interactions with farmers.

In a special initiative aligned with World Environment Day's 'Ek Ped Maa Ke Naam' campaign, 569 fruit-bearing saplings were planted across Self-Help Group (SHG) locations, Anganwadi Centres, and government offices — symbolizing both environmental consciousness and an emotional connect with nature.

During the fortnight-long drive, 194 events including awareness camps, nukkad natak, sports meets, and chaupals were held, engaging a total of 25,581 participants. The events brought together farmers, fishermen, women from SHGs, and youth. Dedicated efforts by Krishi Vigyan Kendras (KVKs) and departmental officers ensured the campaign reached even the distant Nancowry group of islands, often requiring travel by boat.

Field-level oversight was maintained through regular visits by Deputy Commissioners and Assistant Commissioners. District-level developments were regularly disseminated through press releases, reinforcing the campaign's visibility and impact. Real-time feedback, documentation of best practices, and identification of on-ground challenges were integral components of the campaign.

The successful execution of VKSA in the Andaman and Nicobar Islands has set a benchmark for grassroots agricultural outreach. It reflects the UT Administration's strong commitment to inclusive and sustainable agricultural development in line with the national vision of Viksit Bharat.

The Union Territory of Andaman and Nicobar Islands successfully concluded the Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan (VKSA) on 12th June 2025, marking the end of a 15-day intensive Pre-Kharif outreach initiative aimed at empowering farmers through awareness of central government agricultural schemes and sustainable practices.

The campaign was launched on 29th May 2025 following a high-level preparatory meeting chaired by the Chief Secretary, A&N Administration. Emphasizing the importance of clear communication, the Chief Secretary directed departments to actively disseminate modern agricultural innovations and ensure participation from PRI members and field-level officers. Instructions were also issued for standardized Gram Panchayat-wise reporting and structured feedback systems to enhance transparency and accountability.

Farmer engagement was witnessed across all zones of the islands, including interior and remote locations. Notably, on the inaugural day, the Andaman and Nicobar Islands secured the 4th position nationwide in terms of farmer participation percentage, underscoring the strong response from the local farming community.

In a bid to promote safe and sanitary practices in fisheries, the Department of Fisheries, A&N Administration, in collaboration with NETFISH-MPEDA, Chennai, conducted a one-day training programme on 'Capacity Building on Hygienic and Sanitary Procedures' for members of the Scheduled Tribe community at Car Nicobar.

The programme was inaugurated in the presence of Mr. Lionald Nicomed,

Chairman of the Tribal Council, Car Nicobar, who attended as the chief guest. Mr. Martin Luther, Secretary, Tribal Council, was the guest of honour. Also present were Mr. Paul David, 1st Captain of Perka Village; Dr. Arulmoorthy, State Coordinator, NETFISH-MPEDA, Chennai; and officials from the Department of Fisheries.

In his address, Mr. Lionald Nicomed commended the initiative and emphasized the importance of hygienic fish handling practices to boost income levels and improve access to broader markets. Mr. Martin Luther highlighted the effectiveness of the training, noting that it successfully bridged language barriers to convey vital concepts on hygiene and sanitation.

Welcoming the participants, Ms. V. Sheeja, Deputy Director, Department of Fisheries, Car Nicobar, explained that the training aimed to raise awareness among the local fishing community about the significance of hygiene at all stages—from catch to consumption.

Dr. Arulmoorthy elaborated that the training combined theoretical learning with practical demonstrations to ensure comprehensive understanding among the participants.

The technical sessions covered key topics such as hygienic handling of fish post-harvest, sanitary upkeep of landing centres and processing areas, maintenance of tools and equipment, adoption of Good Hygienic Practices (GHP), and implementation of Sanitary Standard Operating Procedures (SSOPs).

To support the adoption of these practices, the Chairman and Secretary of the Tribal Council distributed fishing crates, gloves, and water cans to the fishers. The event saw enthusiastic participation from fishers across various villages of Car Nicobar, indicating strong community interest in improving hygiene standards in fisheries.

The programme concluded with the distribution of certificates to all participants.
